The bill does not assume to compel arbitra-tion where neither party to the controversy is willing to submit the case; no new genalties are imposed by it, no new rights or privileges granted; the object of the legislation is simply to secure a hearing upon the merits of any controversy and a summary process and means of securing rights under the laws as they now exist.

means of securing rights under the laws as they now exist.

The beneficial results expected from such legislation are summarized as follows: To dig-nify labor, to remove the unrest pervading the industrial world, to provide a peaceful means for the settlement of labor controversies, to save millions of money to both labo and capital, and to insure the public peace.

Immigration Restriction Opposed. The bill introduced by Representative Lockwood, of New York, to protect American labor by preventing foreigners who retain residences across the Canadian and Mexican borders from crossing the line to work, has been rejected by the House Committee on Immigration. Opposition to the bill was developed largely because of the requirement that every adult immigrant should be subject to a head tax of $75 and every child $30.

True Amount of the Reserve. The cash balance in the Treasury yesterday was $125,910,694, of which $55,516,212 is gold reserve. Five hundred thousand dollars in gold was yesterday engaged for export, leav-ing the true amount of the reserve $55,016,-

WON ANOTHER GAME, Good Pitching by Maul Aided the Senators to Victory Yesterday.

BECOKLYN, July 30 .- The Senators surprised Foun's Fairles by winning another game, and thus making the present series two out of three in their favor. Daub and Maul were the pitchers of the day. Daub

The Senators also put up a good game in the field, and moved about the bases like a lot of two-year-oids. A running eatch by Hassamaer in the eighth inning was the feature of the day. Attendance, 1,440. Score:

Holcomb Knocks Out Nally

One of the best prize fights that has taken place recently in this vicinity occurred last night at Stubner's Road-house, between Charles Holcomb and Billy Nally, both of this city. Holcomb gained the decision in the twelfth round by knocking Nally completely out.

The flight was very even up to the fourth round, when Holcomb's superior condition commenced to tail, and it was then only a question of how long Nally would last. The latter put up a very game fight, but his poor condition was against him and what blows he did land on Holcomb lacked speed and force. Neither of the men displayed much science, but Holcomb had a very dangerous left, which finally put Nally out by a swinging blow on the point of the very dangerous left, which finally put Mally out by a swinging blow on the point of the chin. In the preliminary bouts of the evening between Brantley and Taylor, Brantley got the decision on the second round. In that between Joe Burnett and Redman, the latter was knocked out in the second round, and in the go between A. Brown and W. Primrose, Brown was ny Gerea and hard flighting in the Brown won by fierce and hard flighting in the sixth round.

EXCITED OVER THE DECISION

Backers of the Winner Took Exception to the Action of the Officials and One Man Was Riected from the Grounds-Books Came Out Ahead of the Talent.

A larger crowd than usual attended the Island course yesterday, and the speculation on the different events was much livelier than ordinarily. There was one unusual feature, which occasioned a deal of bad feeling and resulted in one hot-tempered Washingtonian being ejected from the grounds. In the second race Devises was a warm favorite, and won handily at the end. To the consternation of the favorite's backers the judges disqualified Devises for an alleged foul in the qualified Devisee for an alleged foul in the atretch.

It was generally admitted that the winner had crossed to the outside of the track, but it was urged that Devisee was clear of the others and did not interfere in any way. Johnson, who rode Devisee, said his mount swerved alightly at a mud puddle and he purposely took the herse around the bad spot. After hearing what the jockies had to say the judges were satisfied a foul had taken place and gave Doc Birch the race.

Frank Kennedy, a Washingtonian, made a vigorous objection to the decision and the officers attempted to put him off the grounds. After a lively tussel and by the united efforts of five men Kennedy was foreibly removed. During the exciting moments attending the removal business was suspended in every direction, and Kennedy's grit and strength came in for general commendation.

removal business was suspended in every direction, and Kennedy's grit and strength came in for general commendation.

Pathway was made an even money choice for the opening rate and this good price was only obtainable through a wild plunge on Gladstone. The latter was beaten by both Pathway and the Vexation filly, who finished as named. In the second Devisse was backed down to 9 to 10, and taking command from Pink H. at the turn for home won handily by a length and a half with Doe Birch and Pink H. close together, and King Bird fourth. When Devisse was disqualified Ada Blue, who finished fifth, was placed ahead of King Bird.

It was expected that the third race would be nothing more nor less than a duel between Lyrist and Elmstone, and nearly all the betting was confined to these two, Lyrist going to the post at 4 to 5, with 7 to 5 against Elmstone. The latter was always in front, and won easily by a length and a half from Tloga, while Potrowattomic beat Lyrist a head for third. The Eimstone people won heavily on third. Keime's withdrawal made the fourth a moral for Grand Prix, and the Clover stable's crack was at 5 to 2 on. The favorite ran second to the stretch, and then came on and won in a gailop by a length from Hemet, who beat Lyceum a neck. In the last race Miss Beas was backed down to 8 to 5, while 2 to 1 was the best against Belle Blackburn, with Lilly M. at 3 to 1. Typographical Unions' Objection to House Bill Not Heeded by the Senators.

The House bill providing for reform in the sethods of conducting the printing, binding, and distributing of public documents, which is intended to avoid duplication and waste and thus save $250,000 annually, was passed by the Senate yesterday late in the afternoon by the Senate yesterday late in the afternoon with but little discussion.

The only section in the bill which provoked discussion was the one authorizing the Public Printer to employ twenty-five apprentices in the Government Printing Office. To this the typographical unions object, on the ground that it increases unnecessarily the number of compositors available and is therefore a detriment to their organizations.

Senator Peffer, of Kansas, sought to have the amendment stricken out, and defended his position by saying that while he believed men in different occupations had the right to protect themselves from undue competition from outside.

men in different occupations had the right to protect themselves from undue competition from outside.

Senator Manderson, of Nebraska, defended the paragraph in the bill allowing the apprentices, and thought it was perfectly proper for the government to allow these young men to have the ciportunity of learning a useful trade. Senator Palmer in a brief speech took the same position. Senator Manderson urged upon Senator Peffer the injustice of attempting to limit the opportunities of those who wished especially to enter a certain trade or occupation by allowing any restraint against entering into it, and thought the government should not be a party to such a policy.

After the discussion had closed and the vote was about so be taken Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, said that while he should make no objection to a paragraph in the bill providing that in the absence by sickness or otherwise for the filling by the chief clerk of the Pucile Frinter's place, and that the authority to dismiss employes should west in the Joint Committee on Printing, he thought some explanation would be proper. He did not think this committee should be vested with such powers, and suggested that the Public Printer, with his army of employes, nearly resembled a Cabinet officer in the administration of a great department.

Senator Manderson explained that it was intended to place the power where in a contingency it could safely rest, and thought no danger would come from it. Senator Gallinger did not maintain his objection.

The amendment was then adopted allowing the apprentices, and Senators Gorman, Ransom, and Manderson, the Committee on Printsom, and Manderson, the apprentices, and Senators Gorman, Ran-som, and Manderson, the Committee on Print-ing, appointed conferces.

SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

ppropriates for the Mahone Printing Office Site, Ford Victims, and War Department Clerks.

Considerable surprise was expressed at th Capitol vesterday when the sundry civil bill was reported, and among the list of items added by the Senate committee appeared an appropriation of $250,000 for the purchase for a Government Printing Office of the famous "Mahone lot," over which there has been so

"Mahone lot," over which there has been so much lobbying.

Accompanying this was an additional appropriation for $10,000 for plans for the building. The sum of $250,000 was appropriated for a Government Printing House, and not used, in 1890. It is not at all likely that the Hcuse will consent to this amendment in conference, for the enemies of the Mahone lot in that body are numerous and bitter.

As reported the bill shows an increase of $2,538,301 over the House bill, making the aggregate $35,061,685. The principal increases were the following:
